Post-Debate Forum Human Rights & the Supply Chain

We will be holding smaller forums after the main debates on human rights in the supply chain. Oxfam and the Textile Clothing and Footwear Union are invited to give an overview of the major issues and what businesses can do. Following that, we'll hear the business response from an apparel retailer and buyer. However the main purpose of the forum is to get discussion going about practical ways in which businesses can address human rights issues in their products and procurement. We know this is a difficult area and look forward to discussing some practical solutions.
